

WESTERN SYDNEY
UNIVERSITY

The Marriage Equality Debate: Law, Politics and Religion

This public seminar explores some of the legal issues around the current marriage equality debate. Does marriage equality pose a risk to religious freedom? Conversely, does a lack of marriage equality pose a risk to religious freedom? What role should religion play in the debate? Is the debate really about equality? Is a plebiscite a good idea? Is a parliamentary conscience vote a good idea? What lessons can we learn from overseas experience on this issue?

Western Sydney University Law School invites you to a public seminar on Marriage Equality and the Law.

Collector Hotel, 100 George Street,
Parramatta, Wednesday 26 October,
5.30 for 6-7.30 pm

SPEAKERS

Dr Luke Beck, Western Sydney University
Professor Patrick Parkinson, University of Sydney
Dr Senthoran Sunil Raj, Keele University, UK

The seminar is free but reservations are essential:
RSVP by Wednesday 19 October 2016 to law.research@westernsydney.edu.au

Inquiries: Associate Professor Susan Armstrong
sm.armstrong@westernsydney.edu.au