Message from the Dean, School of Law

The mission of the UWS School of Law is to be a law school that excels in education and research, and values its students and staff. In the spirit of intellectual freedom, we critically and ethically engage with the law and the issues of our time. We are actively committed to socially just and professional practice, and we support and challenge our graduates to serve their communities with the same commitment.

Congratulations to all our prize winners for your hard work and dedication to your legal education. You have set a very high standard and are a credit to the School of Law.

We also wish to thank our donors for your generous support and interest in the success of our students.

We wish our law students all the best in their future careers.

Bartier Perry Award

Donor

Bartier Perry

Bartier Perry is an established Sydney commercial law firm, which has been providing expert legal services for over 70 years. Bartier Perry delivers services within the practice groups of Corporate & Commercial, Commercial Litigation and Dispute Resolution, Property, Planning & Environment, Workplace Relations, Insurance Litigation, Wills & Estates, Taxation, and Business Succession.

Bartier Perry is fortunate to advise a blue chip client base from a wide range of industry sectors. Our clients include institutions, national corporations, SMEs, government agencies and statutory authorities. The Bartier Perry team regularly advise their clients on a range of taxation issues including income tax, capital gains tax, GST and stamp duties for transactions.

Bartier Perry believes it is vital for commercial organisations to give back to the communities in which they operate. Contributing to UWS and its best students is one way we can do this.

We chose to support the discipline of revenue law because of its challenges. Australia suffers from a tax system that can fairly be described as, at best, challenging in its complexity. Good quality graduates in revenue disciplines can contribute not only to the businesses or government they advise, but also, we hope, to the community by understanding the system and aiding its reform.

NSW Bar Association Award

NEW SOUTH WALES
BAR ASSOCIATION®

Donor NSW Bar Association

On 22 October 1936 the New South Wales Bar Association was incorporated and in the first meeting of the Council of the New South Wales Bar Association took place. The Memorandum and Articles of Association noted that the Bar Association would make suggestions on legislation, court rules, procedure and business. The memorandum also noted that a library would be established together with reading, meeting, and dining rooms, and power to undertake law reporting, printing, publishing and bookbinding. Over the years, both the judicial and executive branches of government sought the advice of the Bar Association regarding bills and rules of court. In 2013 there were 21 standing committees. A considerable number of barristers are appointed as members of court liaison committees, government working parties and statutory authorities, providing their skills and expertise for the public benefit.

RH Stillman Memorial Award

Donor*The Estate of Reuben Herbert Stillman

When Reuben Herbert Stillman arrived in Australia in the early 1950s, the electrical engineer was virtually penniless. Having completed his schooling and apprenticeship in England, he went on to secure work, and spent most of his working life at Northern Rivers County Council in Grafton. He retired to Brisbane to complete his PhD in electrical engineering at the University of Queensland. Ron's involvement in law started with preparing expert reports on electrical accidents. In Brisbane, he became involved in research in law and economics and, together with Professor Carolyn Sappideen, he published a book on negligence, risk and liability in the electricity supply industry. He moved to Sydney to complete his law degree and later, at UWS, his Master of Laws by thesis, on liability in the electrical supply industry. In retirement, Reuben also worked as a consultant and adjunct professor at UNSW, and researched and taught about risk assessment. Ron, the son of Russian refugees, was a prolific reader with a love of learning and scholarship – nurtured when he was evacuated from London to boarding school during the Blitz. He is survived by his son Robert and his wife Dr Margaret Mackisack. The RH Stillman Award recognises the achievements of talented law students.

Whitlam Institute Award

Whitlam Institute
WITHIN THE UNIVERSITY OF WESTERN SYDNEY

Donor

The Whitlam Institute exists for all Australians who care about what matters in a fair Australia. The Institute bridges the historical legacy of Gough Whitlam's years in public life and the contemporary relevance of the Whitlam Program to public discourse and policy.

Established by the University of Western Sydney in 2000, the Whitlam Institute's permanent home is in the historic Female Orphan School on the Parramatta Campus. The Institute's spirit is best captured in Mr Whitlam's own words when signing the Deed of Gift:

The greatest contribution that I hope to bestow is inspiration. That the work and causes championed in my parliamentary career and the statesman service that followed, will provide the basis for ongoing research and advocacy from this university into the contemporary challenges that confront and can improve the quality of life for all Australians.... [December 2003]

The Whitlam Institute works as an advocate, educator, policy influencer and research institute. The Institute is home to the Whitlam Prime Ministerial Collection and the Whitlam Reading Room houses selected books and papers donated by Mr Whitlam. The collection provides on-line access to papers held both at the Institute and in the National Archives. The Institute maintains an active public education program.
