CODRINGTON-FORSYTH, Guy Percy

Australian National Memorial Villers-Bretonneux, Villers-Bretonneux, France.
Photograph © C.A. Lester 25 April 2011

Australian National Memorial Villers-Bretonneux, Villers-Bretonneux, France.
Photograph © J.L. Lester 25 April 2011

Guy Percy Codrington-Forsyth was born at Walthamstow, Essex, England and attended London College and Holloway, London N, England. Guy arrived in Australia aged 19, and attended HAC 1913-1914 where he undertook special courses in orchards and plots.

Guy was working on the Bathurst Experimental Farm, Bathurst, NSW when he enlisted on 30 June 1915.
Codrington-Forsyth joined the 20th Battalion, 4th Reinforcement and embarked from Sydney, on board HMAT A8 Argyllshire on 30 September 1915.

Guy served at Gallipoli and then went on to France June 1916.

Appointed 2nd Lieutenant on 28 October 1916, and then to Lieutenant with the 48th Battalion on 8 March 1917. Guy was Killed in Action on 11 April 1917 at Bullecourt, France, aged 23 years old.

Codrington-Forsyth has no known grave and is commemorated on the Australian National Memorial Villers-Bretonneux, Villers-Bretonneux, France.