Delmar Greenwood came to HAC aged just 16, the minimum age for entry, in January 1914. His father, Felix, was a Sydney baker, and in that first year Delmar took the Best Prize on Dairy. He enlisted on 2 August 1915, having just turned 18, the minimum age for enlistment (but still requiring parental consent). He took ill whilst at the Liverpool Camp and died of pneumonia there on 28 September and was subsequently interred at Rookwood Cemetery. His headstone reads;

"BRIEF, BRAVE AND GLORIOUS WAS HIS YOUNG CAREER"
