Face Up to Racism: 2015-16 National Survey

Kathleen Blair Challenging Racism Project, WSU

Online Panel:

Data were generated by a commercial online panel provider, SSI. SSI currently has over 400,000 active panellists. People are invited to join the SSI panel a number of different ways, including email invitations, text messages, telephone alerts and banners and messaging on websites. These advertisements are also diverse, including invitations to 'give your opinion', 'win a prize', 'earn cash/prizes' or 'let your voice be heard'. These diverse recruitment messages and advertisements are used to recruit people with a variety of motivations to take part in research.

Potential panellists are subjected to rigorous quality controls before being included in the SSI Panel. SSI check for fraudulent respondents or duplicates based on one's IP address, machine ID, GeoIP etc. SSI can digitally fingerprint their panellists to ensure that they are not 'bots', fraudsters or 'career panellists', that they come from a legitimate source and only answer each questionnaire once. Once someone has become a panellist they are asked to complete a series of demographic questions. Panellists are then randomly selected and invited to complete a survey. Before completing a survey they are asked to complete a set of 10 profiling questions. These questions enable SSI to match panellists with surveys they are likely to be able to take. The profiling questions are based on the screening requirements of the active surveys. For example, if a survey requires that participants be home owners between the ages of 25 and 35, this survey will only be sent to panellists who fulfil these criteria. The panellists themselves choose the surveys they wish to complete. If they do not wish to complete a survey they merely ignore the request.

The only criterion for this survey was that panellists be over the age of 18. However, due to the online nature of the SSI panel, members of the public who do not have access to the internet and who do not wish to join a research panel were excluded from the sample.

Sample:

The sample consists of 6,001 Australian respondents aged 18 years and over. The survey was undertaken between July-August 2015 (n=5407) and November 2016 (n=594). The survey is largely representative of the Australia population (see Appendix 1). 52 per cent of respondents were female and 48 per cent male. 2.3 per cent of the sample are Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander. 72 per cent of respondents were born in Australia. The other most common countries of birth were United Kingdom (7.6%), New Zealand (2.4%), India (2.4%), Malaysia (1.4%) and China (1.1%, excluding SARS and Taiwan). 18.3 per cent of the sample also spoke a language other than English at home or in their community. The most common languages included Cantonese (1.6%), Mandarin (1.4%), Italian (1.3%), Greek (0.9%) and Chinese (0.9%).
