At 24, Richmond was one of the older students at HAC and there are no details on his card to say what he was studying. He arrived in Australia aged 20 and spent just six months at the College from July to December 1898. He had been born at Birkenhead, England, and aged 41 he enlisted in May 1915 at Liverpool, NSW. A Lance Corporal with the 19th Battalion he took ill on Gallipoli and was admitted to hospital there with dysentery (as happened to many men) on October 28, but he died on November 1, 1915, aboard the hospital ship Rewa, and was buried at sea off Malta. He is commemorated on the Lone Pine Memorial, Gallipoli, Turkey. He left a wife Nellie back in Bowral, NSW.
