1. A research internship is a position with a research end-user (e.g. businesses, governments, not for profit organisations, community organisations, health organisations but excluding other higher education providers or their controlled entities) where a research candidate has undertaken research and development related to their higher degree by research.
2. Research internship agreement may take several forms such as formal internship agreement; industry funded research project agreement; industry funded scholarship agreement and student deed; an employment contract during the student candidature; an email or a written communication between the student, university staff and the industry partner contact person confirming the internship arrangement.

Please submit the completed form via email to grs.industry@westernsydney.edu.au

For more information about eligible research internships please refer to FAQs for Research Training Program Industry Internships.
