'The Asia University virtual study program was incredible! Online international study experiences are just as exciting as physically travelling overseas.'

There was plenty of information about Taiwan, and we experienced sessions dedicated to culture and heritage. It felt like I could experience some of Taiwan without taking any risks.'

Rose Lewis is a Western Sydney University student who has recently completed the online Summer program from Asia University (Taiwan).

Collaborative Online International Learning (COIL)

What is Collaborative Online International Learning (COIL)?

COIL is the co-development of a shared syllabus by two or more instructors from geographically distant locations.

COIL is an innovative way to engage students in a shared, online multicultural and collaborative learning environment.

Developing COIL units

The process can be quite overwhelming at first.

Follow the guidelines developed to suit the needs of Western Sydney University:

1. Download Guidelines

2. Discuss

3. Develop Concept

4. Meet International

5. Submit Proposal
