Bachelor of Psychology (Honours)

COURSE	UAC CODE	CRICOS CODE	WS CODE	INTAKE	LOCATION	DURATION	ATAR
B Psychology (Honours)	727500	041143A	1865	March/July	Bankstown	4F/8P	89.30
	727502	041143A	1865	March/July	Parramatta	4F/8P	85.15
	727505	041143A	1865	March/July	Penrith	4F/8P	87.05

Key: B = Bachelor of; F = Full-time; P = Part-time.

Note: Part-time refers to study load, not to timetabling of evening classes.

Our Bachelor of Psychology (Honours) degree is your opportunity to understand all the things that influence human behaviour. Topics covered in this degree include: the way the brain works, how we learn, what our emotions are about, how we process information to make decisions, why no two people are the same in the ways they think, feel and act, how we develop across the lifespan, and the broad spectrum of mental health issues that affect our lives.

At Western Sydney University, we give our students a thorough grounding in the core areas of psychology so they are equipped for a range of career options after graduation, including going on to become a practising psychologist. You will also learn how to do the research needed to discover more about human behaviour and answer questions about things we don't yet understand. In addition to the core units, you will also have the choice of electives in areas of research excellence.

As a four-year degree, the Bachelor of Psychology (Honours) gives you a thorough scientific understanding of psychology. Importantly, it is strongly vocational, equipping you with the specialist psychological and research skills you will need to enter the workforce as a provisionally registered psychologist or to proceed to advanced study.

PROFESSIONAL RECOGNITION

Completion of the Bachelor of Psychology (Honours) will fulfil the Australian Psychology Accreditation Council requirements for a four-year sequence in psychology. The course satisfies the educational requirements for provisional registration as a psychologist with the Psychology Board of Australia. The course also meets the associate membership requirements of the Australian Psychological Society. A minimum of two years further study and/or supervised experience as a psychologist is required before full registration of provisionally registered psychologists.

Entry into any fourth year program is competitive, and has a minimum entry standard of an average admission mark of 70+ in second and third year units, including an average admission mark of 70+ in the majority of Psychology units.

Students who have successfully completed the first three years, but who do not achieve this standard, will graduate with the Bachelor of Psychological Studies.

CORE UNITS AND ELECTIVES

To graduate with a Bachelor of Psychology (Honours), you will be required to complete 24 units, followed by an Honours year. Some of the core units you may study in this degree include: Brain and Behaviour; Perception; Cognitive Processes; and Developmental Psychology.

The Bachelor of Psychology (Honours) includes a choice of additional psychology units to study as part of a Psychology extension sub-major and eight open elective units that can be chosen from other courses offered by the University.

For detailed information about the course structure and units, visit westernsydney.edu.au/courses

INDIGENOUS AUSTRALIAN STUDIES

Enrolment in the Indigenous Australian Studies (IAS) major, sub-major or units is available to all Western Sydney undergraduate students who have open electives. Find out more at westernsydney.edu.au/studyias

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

As a graduate of Psychology, you will enjoy a range of career possibilities, including roles in:

- psychology or research positions in both government departments and the private sector in clinical, industrial and organisational psychology
- counselling psychology
- vocational psychology
- clinical psychology
- disability services
- educational and developmental psychology
- psychology and the law
- media
- human resources
- community psychology
- forensic psychology
- organisational psychology
- sports psychology.

Bachelor of Social Science (Psychology)

COURSE	UAC CODE	CRICOS CODE	WS CODE	INTAKE	LOCATION	DURATION	ATAR
B Social Science (Psychology)	727600	082919G	1711	March	Bankstown	3F/6P	77.25
	727601	082919G	1711	March	Parramatta	3F/6P	77.25
	727605	082919G	1711	March	Penrith	3F/6P	76.15

Key: B = Bachelor of; F = Full-time; P = Part-time.

Note: Part-time refers to study load, not to timetabling of evening classes.

The Bachelor of Social Science (Psychology) combines a broadly based, interdisciplinary social sciences three-year program with an undergraduate accredited sequence in Psychology that is a foundation for anyone wishing to go on to further study to become a psychologist.

Psychology uses scientific techniques and methods to understand human cognition, affect and behaviour. This combination provides interdisciplinary and specialist knowledge that will mesh with a broad spectrum of career opportunities.

Opportunities to progress to Honours and postgraduate awards make this degree distinct and attractive. There is a high demand for graduates in the mental health workforce, as well as in related disciplines.

PROFESSIONAL RECOGNITION

Completion of the program will fulfil the Australian Psychology Accreditation Council three-year sequence in psychology requirements. Completion of an accredited fourth year will satisfy the educational requirements for provisional registration as a psychologist with the Psychology Board of Australia and the associate membership requirements of the Australian Psychological Society. A minimum of two years further study and/or supervised experience as a psychologist is required before full registration of provisionally registered psychologists.

FURTHER STUDIES

With the accredited sequence in Psychology, an additional Honours year is available to high-achieving students. The application and proposal need to be provided to the relevant academic in the final year of your Bachelor degree. Information about Honours options will be provided to you as you progress through your Bachelor degree, or you can find out more at westernsydney.edu.au

Aimee Chugg

BACHELOR OF PSYCHOLOGY

"The campus at Bankstown is spacious and aesthetically constructed, with plenty of garden areas just to sit and rest. Research is probably my favourite part of my studies at Western."

CORE UNITS AND ELECTIVES

To graduate with a Bachelor of Social Science (Psychology), you will be required to complete 24 units. While the major study is Psychology, required sub-majors include: Child and Community; Criminology and Criminal Justice; Geography and Urban Studies; Heritage and Tourism; Peace and Development Studies; Social Sciences; and Sociology.

For detailed information about the course structure and units, visit westernsydney.edu.au/courses

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Psychological knowledge and skills are welcomed across professional destinations. When combined with the social sciences, opportunities are available in the areas of tourism, sociology, peace and development, policing, and counselling in both government and private sectors.

The Psychology sequence leads to further study and supervision to achieve registration as a psychologist with the Psychology Board of Australia (PsyBA).

Entry to specialist endorsed psychology fields (clinical, health, forensic, community, sports, counselling, educational and developmental psychology) begins with the Psychology sequence offered in the Bachelor of Social Science (Psychology).

Bachelor of Arts (with a Key Program in Psychology)

COURSE	UAC CODE	CRICOS CODE	WS CODE	INTAKE	LOCATION	DURATION	ATAR
B Arts (with a Key Program in Psychology)	720510	040992A	1706	March/July	Bankstown	3F/6P	70.00
	720515	040992A	1706	March/July	Parramatta	3F/6P	72.85
	720518	040992A	1706	March/July	Penrith	3F/6P	70.00

Key: B = Bachelor of; F = Full-time; P = Part-time.

Note: Part-time refers to study load, not to timetabling of evening classes.

If your interest in psychology is fuelled by a desire to understand its applications across the broad base of human endeavours, consider a Western Sydney University Bachelor of Arts, with a key program in Psychology.

This degree offers a 12-unit accredited Psychology key program. As this sequence is accredited by the Australian Psychology Accreditation Council, it allows you to go on to apply for postgraduate study in psychology, the next step to becoming a practising psychologist.

While covering the core areas in psychology, this course develops your communication and personal skills, as well as your creativity, capacity for independent thought, adaptability to new situations and problem-solving skills. Your electives can come from many other degree programs taught across the University – broadening your abilities in cultural, historical and/or social analysis.

Psychological literacies are in demand so students may have an interest in psychology without wanting to become a psychologist. By completing a Bachelor of Arts with just the eight unit psychological studies major (that is not accredited), you can broaden your knowledge, making possible a wider range of more general career outcomes outside of ‘pure psychology’.

PROFESSIONAL RECOGNITION

Completion of the Psychology key program, including 12 specified Psychology units, will fulfil the Australian Psychology Accreditation Council (APAC) three-year sequence in psychology requirements. Completion of an accredited fourth year will satisfy the educational requirements for provisional registration as a psychologist with the Psychology Board of Australia and the associate membership requirements of the Australian Psychological Society. A minimum of two years further study and/or supervised experience as a psychologist is required before full registration of provisionally registered psychologists. The psychological studies major does not meet APAC requirements for an accredited sequence in psychology.

Entry into any fourth year program is competitive, and has a minimum entry standard of an average admission mark of 70+ in second and third year units, including an average admission mark of 70+ in Psychology units.

CORE UNITS AND ELECTIVES

To graduate with a Bachelor of Arts (with a Key Program in Psychology), you will be required to complete 24 units. The core units you may study in this degree include: Psychology; Human Behaviour; Psychology: Behavioural Science; Brain and Behaviour; Motivation and Emotion; Perception; and Social Psychology.

There are up to eight electives within the Bachelor of Arts (with a Key Program in Psychology). The elective component of the degree may be structured around other Arts specialisations including: International Relations and Asian Studies; Cultural and Social Analysis; English; History and Political Thought; Languages; Education; or Social Ecology.

For detailed information about the course structure and units, visit westernsydney.edu.au/courses

FURTHER STUDIES

With the accredited sequence in Psychology, an additional Honours year is available to high-achieving students. The application and proposal need to be provided to the relevant academic in the final year of your Bachelor degree. Information about Honours will be provided to you as you progress through your Bachelor degree, or you can find out more at westernsydney.edu.au

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

With an accredited Psychology sequence in the Bachelor of Arts, you can pursue many of the same career options made available by the Bachelor of Psychology, including roles in:

- psychology or research positions in both government departments and the private sector in clinical, industrial and organisational psychology
- counselling psychology
- vocational psychology
- clinical psychology
- educational and developmental psychology
- psychology and the law
- marketing and media
- human resources
- community psychology
- forensic psychology
- sport psychology.

The Bachelor of Arts (with a Key Program in Psychology) degree opens doors to careers in diverse fields, such as:

- politics and policy development
- human resource consultancy
- writing and communication
- vocational assessment.

Bachelor of Applied Leadership and Critical Thinking

When you enrol in an advanced degree at Western Sydney University, you also qualify for the Bachelor of Applied Leadership and Critical Thinking. This degree is designed to be undertaken in combination with any Bachelor degree. It focuses on ethical leadership, creativity and innovation, the capacity to deal with complex issues, relationships and critical thinking skills. You will learn to think from multiple perspectives, see and create opportunities, and bring creative, cooperative, and ethical leadership to your future role in the workplace – even if that role is, as yet, unimagined.

Note: The Bachelor of Applied Leadership and Critical Thinking is not a stand-alone degree. It can only be taken in combination with an existing Bachelor degree. Students enrolled in a degree linked with the Bachelor of Applied Leadership and Critical Thinking will gain entry into The Academy. A minimum ATAR of 85.00 is required for the combined degree.

For more detailed information about the course structure and units, visit westernsydney.edu.au/courses

A ONE OF A KIND DEGREE IN DATA SCIENCE.

In the world of tomorrow, data skills will be essential – no matter what other qualifications you may have. Western's new Bachelor of Data Science is a one of a kind. It's unique because it can only be studied in conjunction with another degree. This is a real advantage in a competitive environment. Graduates who understand the intricacies of extracting information and knowledge from data are highly sought after, whatever their discipline.

Blend Data Science with courses like Marketing, Engineering, Information and Communications Technology, Science or Psychology to graduate with a combined degree.

It will all add up to an unstoppable future. Find out more about what our Bachelor of Data Science degree can offer.
