SUPPORTING CHINESE MEDICINE ON GIVING DAY

A vital part of integrative health in Australia

Western Sydney University is committed to building the capacity, quality and sustainability of the Chinese medicine sector, and improving the recognition and understanding of Chinese medicine among consumers, medical practitioners and governments.

The Chinese Medicine Centre (CMC) is a collaboration between Western Sydney University (WSU) and Beijing University of Chinese Medicine (BUCM) and is at the forefront of Chinese medicine in Australia and world-wide.

The CMC promotes international recognition and development of Chinese medicine, and works to validate and translate Chinese medicine for contemporary education, clinical practice, research and community engagement.

IMPACT OF YOUR SUPPORT

Your donations fuel research and discoveries in Chinese medicine that inform the education of our students who are the next generation of world-class Chinese medicine practitioners.

Helping people survive Cancer

Integrating Chinese herbal medicine and therapies such as acupuncture and Qigong into cancer treatment may provide healthier living and better outcomes through:

- Managing the side effects of cancer treatment;
- Providing pain-relief for better quality-of-life; and
- Empowering cancer caregivers.

With your support we will be able to build Chinese medicine evidence in cancer research and expand cancer clinical trials to a national and global scale.

We warmly invite you to join our students, researchers, clinicians, and educators as they lead the way to a future of integrative health in cancer care.
