

A letter from Sarah Bradley, Code for Schools

Dear Girls Tech Day Attendees,

I want you to remember one thing: your potential is limitless.

Don't let anyone tell you what you can or can't do - whether it's other people, stereotypes, or even the little voice in your own head that sometimes says "I'm not good enough". You are capable and worthy of anything you set your mind to, and you get to decide who you are and who you will become.

Tech is one of the most powerful ways to change the world. With technology you can:

- ✨ Build tools that help people
- ✨ Help protect the environment
- ✨ Create games or apps that make life better
- ✨ Discover patterns no one else can see
- ✨ Solve problems that adults haven't solved yet

Technology isn't about being a genius - it's about being curious, creative, and willing to try. You never know where one small step can take you.

If you want to start learning to code, explore Code for Schools (csinschools.io). It's free, fun, and perfect for beginners.

The future of technology needs you - your ideas, your imagination, and your voice.

Dream boldly, try bravely, and never limit what you think is possible.

With excitement for everything you'll create,

Sarah Bradley
